Greetings,

There is no need to raise gas margins due to cost increases.

The gas companies are making huge profits and do not need another increase in profit.

The people of the province have paid enough for the pandemic and now the government mishandling of inflation.

You are just adding another burden to the people.

It is bad enough that you hired a third party to come to a decision which is another waste of money.

There is only so much that can go around and it is limited.

That money should be spent on items that help people and not wasted.
