Re: Appeal #LEV23-001 – Matt MacDonald v. Minister of Environment, Energy and Climate Action

---

I am writing further to my email correspondence of May 29, 2025, which advised that the Commission intends to set this matter down for a hearing of both the jurisdictional issue and the merits. While some emails were subsequently exchanged with respect to dates for this hearing, there was no consensus from the parties respecting availability.

Therefore, I am writing to advise that the Commission has set this matter down for hearing on Tuesday, November 25, 2025, beginning at 9:30 a.m., with November 26, 2025, reserved for a second day, if necessary. This hearing date will only be rescheduled due to extenuating circumstances. A formal notice of hearing will follow in due course along with a timeline for further evidence, documents and submissions of the parties leading up to the hearing.

Trusting this is satisfactory.

Yours truly,

Jessica Gillis
General Counsel
